

Parents Against Child Exploitation (PACE)

Pace is a nationally registered charity started by parents whose children were being sexually exploited in Leeds Yorkshire. They have expanded their remit to offer support to all parents and carers to safeguard their children and disrupt exploitation.

Although the focus of their website is to parent and carers of children under the age of 18, a lot of the resources and information would be relevant to those over 18 too, but as they are a charity, their limited funding is focused on parents and carers of those under 18.

The following resources are available to any parents and carers to access though:

Film signs of exploitation

Film towards hope

Online information & advice centre you can find a wide range of information and advice about exploitation, working with services, the law and living & coping with exploitation.

E-learning for parents keep them safe

If your child or the person you care for is under 18 you can also access:

Parent webinars on county lines and criminal exploitation

Telephone support

If your child is being sexually exploited, you can access national parent support. This includes parent forums, network days & newsletters.

If your child is being criminally exploited, you can access telephone-based parent support and newsletters.
